Set up the 'Recommended Products' block for products

The first video will show you how to set up the Recommended Products block for your website, which you can then allocate manually to your products, so that each product can have this block, and have different product(s) based on the product - I.e, each product can have a unique set of products that are shown in the 'recommended products' section.

Video 1 - Set up the 'recommended products' block:

Video 2 - Adding the block to a product:
